My eternal summer

Donostia Zinemaldia
Festival de San Sebastián
NEW DIRECTORS

A young woman with long, wavy hair is sitting in the passenger seat of a car. She is looking out the window with a thoughtful expression. Her hand is resting on her chin. The car's interior is visible, including the seat and window frame. The background outside the window is a blurred green landscape.

SYNOPSIS

Fifteen-year-old Fanny and her parents retreat to their summer house, embracing familiar routines: reading, swimming, and walking. Beneath the quiet simplicity, an unspoken grief lingers—they know it will be her mother's last summer. As they try to seize the days they have left together, the family navigates the delicate balance between cherishing the present and facing what's to come.

DIRECTOR'S STATEMENT

Drawing from my own experience I wanted to capture the story of a family living in the shadow of inevitable loss. I wanted to explore how the looming presence of death shapes their connections with each other and the world around them. This film is, for me, a meditation on grief, love, and the delicate threads that bind a family together in the face of profound tragedy. It's about finding small glimmers of light in the darkness and discovering the strength within ourselves and in each other when words fall away. The focus isn't on the one who is dying, but on those who are left behind, struggling to make sense of life in the wake of loss.

DIRECTOR'S BIOGRAPHY

Sylvia Le Fanu graduated from The Norwegian Film School in 2020 and has a bachelor's degree in Film and Media studies from the University of Copenhagen. She has completed the independent film school 18FRAMES, where she wrote and directed the short film Abu Adnan (2017), which achieved international recognition, i.a. at Clermont Ferrand. The film was nominated for a Robert award (2017), like her subsequent short film Amourteur (2020), which also won the main prize at Odense Film Festival. Both films won the Ekko Shortlist Award in 2017 and 2021 respectively.

My Eternal Summer is Sylvia's feature film debut.

on the edge of goodbye
hand in hand we stand
I'm at the wings of chance,
I understand.
Without you, I'm just a shadow blowing in the wind
If this really is the end,
I wanted to have been more determined
I miss your kisses,
Your scent and the words that you said
no matter what,
I'll never forget
Your eyes looked at me
but saw right through my pain
My love for you is eternal,
Despite the tears on my cheek
But I fear ~~that~~ that without you my heart will grow weak.

Fanny's Poem (for Jamie)

Something is on the way
Not in route but on the way
The bridges are burning
We're drinking wine and dancing close
Building pipe dreams
Living and loving
As humans
You are carefree
I'm crazy about that
Love the way you are you

If only I knew you
Quick hands
Quick feet
Living and breathing
Dancing and singing
Take my hands
My quick hands
Follow my lips
Kiss me and love me
